READING EXERCISE: PREDICTING THE FUTURE

As we read along with a story, we get new information with every page. Soon we begin to make predictions about what is going to happen next based on what we learn. It's up to the author to weave in twists to keep you in suspense!

Under each of these sentence from CH. 10--make a prediction below it. Then save this paper to see if your predictions come true!

Example:

Stay out of the swamps, both of you.

Prediction: They're going to go into the swamps! Make your own:

You must be Lissandra's child.

Hints: Was Lissandra important? Could this be her real mother?

Lissandra was running away with her babe when she died.

Hints: Think about why she might run away?

I'm looking for a creature about this high covered in green fur.

Hints: Who could this be?
